Yurii Volynskyi

was born in Simferopil in 1974.

More than 20 years ago, I became interested in the question: How does a couple dance? How do two strangers come together and start dancing without speaking?

In my search for an answer, I studied various dances. But the Argentine tango gave me the best answer. It revealed the secrets of improvisation to me. In this dance I realized how you can speak and communicate without words, without having learned any step combinations beforehand.

The desire to understand the essence of dance more deeply prompted me to study with experienced Argentinian teachers.

I realized that in order to spread tango, it is not only important to dance well, but also to be able to communicate, explain and teach others. I taught privately for 10 years and developed the ability to give individualized lessons. Then I founded my own tango school in Kherson, Ukraine, and became convinced of the need to include tango in the cultural space, as it helps to unite people, reveal personality and give everyone the opportunity to be accepted and embraced.

For me, teaching tango is above all an opportunity to transmit values such as mutual respect, negotiation skills, freedom of creativity and self-expression.

Come and learn to dance together. Together with us, together with each other!

In addition to the joint rehearsals, various leisure activities are possible, for example hikes to Saxon Switzerland, games and a social evening.
